Continuation of 5: Applicant's arguments filed 05/22/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

It is argued, at page 17 of the remarks, that "The thickness of Casto's inner leads that are inside the encapsulant (elements 18 and 28 of Fig.1) is not constant" and "it is impossible for Casto to simultaneously anticipate both the limitation of a second thickness greater than a first thickness and limitation of a second thickness greater than a first thickness and limitation of a constant second thickness". However, fig.1 of Casto does show the inner leads (portion of leads 18 and 28) having a constant second thickness greater than the first thickness of lead 18 where the chip 12 is mounted. See attachment.

It is argued, at page 17 of the remarks, that "It is clear from Casto Fig.1 that the portion of the inner leads where the bonding wire 34 is connected does not have a second thickness greater than a first thickness of the chip attaching part (40)". However, fig.1 of Casto does show bonding wires 34 are indirectly connected to the portion of the inner lead 28 through the lead 18, and the inner lead having a portion (18 and 28 as shown by the attachment) that has a second thickness greater than the first thickness of lead 18 where the chip 12 is mounted. See attachment. Since claim 55 does not recite the inner leads are totally having a constant second thickness and claim 71 does not recited the bonding wires are directly connected to the portion of the inner leads, Applicant's claims 55 and 71 do not distinguish over Casto's reference.
